

Wordcraft Partners with Focus Education for Key Skills Statements

Derby, UK — September, 2009 — Wordcraft International Ltd, a developer of market leading software solutions, today announces optional statements for AdKlass. Focus Education and Wordcraft have agreed to work together in order to offer primary schools the latest Key Skills statements for their AdKlass solution.

AdKlass is a customisable pupil assessment, analysis and reporting application for primary schools. The solution was developed in partnership with one of Derbyshire's prominent Primary Schools. AdKlass offers flexibility, enabling schools to tailor the application to suit their individual needs with full or partial project management and consultancy as and when needed.

Key Features:

- Secure off-line access
- Web based
- Real Time Collaboration
- Customisable
- User friendly
- Automatic back up
- National Curriculum compliant
- Includes Foundation Stage and Key Stages 1 & 2
- Analysis at each level
- Optional Project Management
- DVD training

"We approached Focus Education following a request from one of our AdKlass customers to include Key Skills statements, we also believe including this option offers further flexibility to our solution" said Andrea Roach, Managing Director, Wordcraft International.
